

Infor Nexus Supply Chain Financing

In the ever-evolving business landscape, supply chain financing has become indispensable for optimizing working capital, enhancing liquidity, and fortifying supplier relationships. As businesses navigate recent and ongoing disruptions, the demand for agile and resilient supply chains has intensified, turning the ability to facilitate efficient supplier financing into a competitive advantage.

Increase flexibility and responsiveness

Infor Nexus™ Supply Chain Financing offers a supplier-centric, turnkey solution that can be rapidly deployable, either as a stand-alone system or fully integrated into your existing financial procurement operations. This solution automates the sharing of approved invoices from your enterprise resource planning (ERP) with Nexus, where suppliers can choose between straight-through processing or invoice-by-invoice financing options.

Furthermore, our platform provides end-to-end visibility into your financial supply chain flows and is supported by a network of leading multi-bank finance providers, ensuring suppliers have the necessary capital to fulfill your orders efficiently.

25+ years of optimizing financial supply chains

Our supply chain financing solutions equip businesses with the financial agility needed to adapt to ever-changing market conditions and unforeseen disruptions. By ensuring liquidity and stability, businesses can better navigate uncertainties confidently, build resilience, and sustain operations through challenging times. These solutions also unlock growth opportunities by liberating capital for investments in innovation and expansion, enabling businesses to be agile and responsive to emerging market demands.

By seamlessly bridging the gap between procurement and payment, our solutions streamline operations and reduce friction, enhancing cash flow management and aligning procurement activities with overarching financial strategies. This integration leads to an efficient supply chain where value is unlocked through optimized working capital and cost reductions related to delayed payments. Automation and improved supplier relationships further drive efficiencies, resulting in a leaner and more effective supply chain.

Maintaining a competitive edge is essential in today's dynamic economic landscape. Our supply chain financing solutions empower businesses to operate more efficiently, respond to market changes more quickly, and offer favorable terms to suppliers. This enhanced financial management and supply chain resilience provide a strategic advantage, ensuring businesses remain at the forefront of their industries while capitalizing on new opportunities for growth and innovation.
