Infor Financials & Supply Management: Global Ledger

Analyze and present information for effective decisions

The Global Ledger from Infor® Financials & Supply Management is a complete record of all your financial transactions, giving you the flexibility to accommodate your entry into global markets. This software solution empowers your stakeholders to streamline operations and simplify financial analysis and reporting with native integrations, automated business flows, and centralized accounting rules. These processing efficiencies can reduce costs and improve the accuracy of financial statements and associated financial processes.

Next generation global ledger

With the Global Ledger, you'll do much more than free your accounting staff from the burden of consolidating data from disparate sources. You'll open more time for high-value activities, such as controlling costs and improving accountability. Infor integration also helps you build a stable foundation for strong corporate governance so that you can feel confident that your system of financial controls encompasses all the functions of your organization—and that the information you report is complete and accurate.

Benefits of the global ledger

Organizations can benefit from the Global Ledger in a number of ways, including:

- Unlimited financial calendars can accommodate different fiscal year ends and other reporting needs.
- Unlimited ledgers can be defined to store adjustments, eliminations, currency gains or losses, and allocations. Unlimited bases can be defined to deliver financial information for regional regulatory requirements, management reporting requirements, consolidations, or other reporting needs.
- In addition to standard segments of basis, year, period, system, entity, accounting unit, and project, you can define up to 10 additional segments for reporting.
- Unlimited attributes can be defined on any field or transaction within any process. Attributes attached to transaction distributions flow through to the journal and are available for reporting and analysis.

Why choose the Global Ledger

The Global Ledger from Infor Financials & Supply Management helps organizations like yours:

- Reduce total cost of ownership and free up capital to support growth initiatives
- Speed time-to-value with fast deployment
- Quickly scale infrastructure to support a growing business
- Automate previously manual tasks and processes across operations
- Get real-time visibility across the entire enterprise
